Landing Craft Assault (LCA) was a landing craft used extensively in World War II. Its primary purpose was to ferry troops from transport ships to attack enemy-held shores. The craft derived from a prototype designed by John I. Thornycroft Ltd. of Woolston, Hampshire, UK. During the war it was manufactured throughout the United Kingdom in places as various as small boatyards and furniture ...

We Make. No matter how well executed, combat falls far short of re-creating medieval life on its own. Clothing, jewelry, art objects, utensils, furniture, foodstuffs, music, dancing, games, and other components of a functioning society are necessary to provide the backdrop that makes the SCA work so well.

Sandomierz was seriously damaged in the Swedish wars of 1655–1660, when both Polish and Swedish armies attacked the Jewish community. Continuing tensions between Christians and Jews resulted in four blood libel cases between 1605 and 1710, and an accusation of a Host profanation in 1639. Three of these accusations led to trials and death sentences.
