Sociology Index. WAR CRIMES. War crime is an offence committed in wartime which violates the accepted rules of war. After the Second World War Allied nations determined to prosecute German war criminals and defined 'war crimes' as plotting aggressive warfare and committing atrocities against any civilian population.

WAR CRIMES are atrocities against any civilian population.

In the early 1940s in Germany doctors conducted Nazi human experimentation on unwilling test subjects; one way of describing the procedures could be to call it medical torture. After the Allied Forces won World War II, United States authorities who held the Nuremberg Palace of Justice used that building to host the Doctors' Trial in which Nazi researchers were charged with crimes against ...

Ethical Decision Making in Research. Although codes, policies, and principals are very important and useful, like any set of rules, they do not cover every situation, they often conflict, and they require considerable interpretation. It is therefore important for researchers to learn how to interpret, assess, and apply various research rules and how to make decisions and to act ethically in ...
